ASSAULT ON BUDGET IS SUDDENLY STOPPED

Leaders of Attack Seem to Have Learned About Governor's Power

By GIL A. COWAN
Special to The Evening News
SACRAMENTO, March 7.—Within the last twenty-four hours a realization that Governor Friend W. Richardson is governor of the state has been reached by opponents to his budget. As one correspondent picturesquely put it, "they have their tails between their legs and outside of an occasional yell the fight is over." It may be those leading the attack have discovered the people as a whole are behind the governor in his economy measures.

It would seem to be a rather inglorious ending to the flood of propaganda which has consistently indicated a big budget battle in the California legislature this session. Many would be glad to see some spirit of initiative shown on the part of those who oppose the governor's methods.

Power Is Supreme

Yet, all admit that he has the final word—that his power is supreme unless overridden by a veto vote. Indeed, it is disconcerting. At the same time it throws the burden of the proof on the governor's shoulders and if his policies are wrong, it will take two years' experience to show such.

Not a spark of fire has marked the first few days of the last half of the session. Even the correspondents have begun to lay plans for a sixty-day siege of monotony. The orators of the old days are gone. Few big issues are presented the people outside of re-apportionment.

Weller at Meeting
And, speaking of reapportionment. The Los Angeles county delegation held a dinner last night at which reapportionment was thoroughly discussed.

It was attended by Assemblyman Frank Weller of Glendale and the decision was reached to fight for full constitutional reapportionment.

The forces are lining up, for the San Francisco delegation has already gone on record against it. Incidentally, the same delegation is in favor of the repeal of the Wright act.

YOUTHFUL COUPLE REVEAL MARRIAGE

Wedding of Josephine Emery To Alvin Brown Comes As Big Surprise

As a surprise to their many friends and relatives, Miss Josephine Emery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Emery of 329 North Kenwood street, and Alvin Brown, son of Dr. and Mrs. Horace Brown of 534 West Doran street, announce their marriage, which took place at San Bernardino, on February 5, 1923. They were accompanied by Mrs. Brown's sister, Miss Olive Bell Emery.

They had intended to keep their wedding a secret until Mr. Brown finished school in June but decided they would rather go to housekeeping by themselves. They will be at home to their friends at 102 South Brand boulevard.

Mrs. Brown has been a resident of Glendale for the past sixteen years, having attended the Glendale Union High School, graduating with the class of 1922. She is treasurer of the local American Legion Auxiliary.

Mr. Brown attended the Lincoln Memorial School at Harrogate, Tennessee, and came to Glendale with his parents, three years ago. Since that time he has been attending the Glendale High School, being a member of the 1923 graduating class.

Second British Cabinet Minister Quits Post

LONDON, March 7.—The second resignation in three days from the Tory government of Premier A. Bonar Law took place today when Minister of Public Health Sir Arthur Griffiths Bosworth quit because of his defeat by a laborite in the by-election at Mitcham.

The third member of the government to be defeated in election was John Waller Hills, financial secretary of the treasury, who lost his parliamentary seat to a laborite at Liverpool.

Two electoral victories for laborites in the past few days increase both the power and prestige of the powerful labor group in commons. Already they constitute the official opposition party, due to the split in the ranks of the liberals. The leaders are now looking forward to the time when they can have their own cabinet.

Gets $100,000 for Doing Brave Deed Eighteen Years Ago

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—On a June morning eighteen years ago, a surrey drawn by a team of high-spirited horses dashed down Sixteenth street, Denver. In the carriage were Dorothy and Helen Phipps, aged 5 and 3. Death seemed near for them as the carriage careened from side to side. A man dashed from the curb, flung himself in front of the horses, held on and despite the fact he went down more than once, managed to stop the runaways.

Today the man, now middle-aged, received a check for $100,000 from United States Senator Lawrence C. Phipps of Denver in remembrance of the occasion on which E. R. May risked his life to save the Phipps children. It was the second time Senator Phipps had remembered May, a check for $5000 having been given him years ago. May plans a trial and to invest the balance of his good fortune for the future.

BREAK WITH FRANCE NOW DEMANDED

Reichstag Hears Plea by Nationalist; Attitude of U. S. Not Changed

BERLIN, March 7.—Formal demand that Germany break off diplomatic relations with France was made in the Reichstag today. The demand was made by Herr Herdt, a nationalist member. He declared that Germany should not only break off diplomatic relations with France but should drop the policy of fulmination in meeting the demands of the allies as regards indemnity.

U. S. Attitude Same

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The attitude of the United States government toward the situation growing out of the French occupation of the Ruhr has not been changed by Chancellor Cuno's speech in the Reichstag, official spokesman for the administration declared today.

Odd Fellows and Rebekahs Admit Applicants at Tuesday Meeting

EIGHT new members joined the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs at their meeting last night in the I. O. O. F. hall. They were Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Esterly, Mr. and Mrs. O. Lawrence, Mrs. C. Royle, Mrs. Allen, Miss Warner and Frank Stanley. District Deputy President Mrs. Lydia Hadley was the guest of honor.

Following the initiation, refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed.

At a short business session that preceded initiation, several important matters were brought up. New applications for membership were balloted upon and passed.

The recently formed Rebekah Needle club, it was announced, will meet the third Friday of March, which is March 16, with Mrs. Winnie Hartley, 451 West Hawthorne street. Mrs. H. Bennett will preside and Mrs. A. Anderson will act as assistant hostess.

Announcement was also made of the Rebekah dance Friday night, March 9, in the I. O. O. F. hall. This affair is to raise money for the Odd Fellows' Orphan home at Gilroy. Mrs. Evelyn Hall is chairman of the committee in charge.

Mrs. Loretta Schwitters, noble grand of the local lodge and recently elected president of the 104th anniversary celebration, coming April 29, announced that on April 3 there will be a district meeting held in the I. O. O. F. hall, Glendale, at which Mrs. Mary N. Pierce, of Los Angeles, president of the California Rebekah assembly, will be present.

One condition of the national assembly's resolution was that the Mosul question be settled "within the provisional time period." The Turks demand that "financial, economic and administrative questions be settled in accordance with the idea that Turkey is an independent nation."

Evacuation of all the occupied areas is another of the Turkish conditions.

Uncle John Says:

Speaking about the dedication of the new Congregational church Mary says she don't know of any city this size that has got so many fine church buildings as Glendale. That is one sure sign that Glendale is going to be a still bigger and greater city, so Mary says.

LOS ANGELES, March 7.—James J. Jeffries, former world's boxing champion, who a week ago filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy, is going to appear on the screen as an actor. He made the admission today at his ranch near Burbank, a suburb of Los Angeles.

Just what type of pictures he will use as vehicles or under whose banner he was to "star" is not known, as the former champion refused to discuss his picture plans further than to make the bare announcement.

"I've tried a lot of ventures," he said, "and I might as well try pictures. It's a cinch I can't be any worse than some of the actors I've seen."

LENINE PREDICTS WAR TRAINING IS VITAL TO JAPAN

Hostile World Divided Into Opposing Camps, Says Soviet Chief

Reduction of Armaments Is Scored in Jap Diet by Ex-War Lord

By DUKE N. PARRY
For International News Service
TOKIO, March 7.—The whole world is passing into a movement which will give birth eventually to universal revolution, but we have to consider the fact that the outside world, hostile to us, has been divided into two militaristic and capitalistic camps," declared Nicolai Lenin, head of the soviet government, in a statement.

The statement was issued primarily in support of the proposal to give wider powers to the committee of workers and peasants.

"The western capitalist powers," said the statement, "are doing their utmost, partly consciously and partly automatically, to push us backward. They would employ international conflicts in their own countries in an effort to destroy the socialist movement."

"International relations have become such that robbery is on the increase by its conquerors, notably Germany. The western countries are making use of their victory to wring further concessions from the classes that were already oppressed. They are attempting to postpone the general revolution."

"In order to secure our existence until the next military conflict between the counter-revolutionary west and the revolutionary and nationalistic east, it is necessary for the peoples in the east to gain time. We must strive to build up our Russian state in which the working class holds the leadership. But in order to build up the nation there must be discipline and the leaders must have power to order and execute construction work."

The creditors charged that while in an insolvent condition, the Selznick company transferred all its negatives and positive prints to a California bank.

The petition names the Pacific Southwest Trust & Savings bank, a creditor, as the institution to which the negatives and prints were transferred.

Little interest was shown in the school bond election held in this city last Saturday. Out of 1500 registered voters, but 200 went to the polls and expressed their opinion on the subject of voting a bond issue of $2,000. There were 155 votes cast in favor of the bond issue and 47 against. Those interested say that one reason so few votes were cast was the fact that a heavy rain fell during the greater part of the day.

Two car accidents were filed at the clerk's office Sunday. William J. Kiebler of 128 North Main-avenue, Pasadena, reported that he struck a bicycle at the intersection of Colorado boulevard and Eagle Rock road and that the bike was badly smashed. The report indicated the accident was unavoidable.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sickle of Oakdale are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis P. Reed of Ridgeway avenue.

F. P. Stuart also reported the collision of his car and another at Central near Adams. The damage was insignificant. The driver of the other car was unknown to Mr. Stuart. The latter lives at 133 West Adams.

A Chevrolet was struck by a south bound Los Angeles streetcar Saturday evening at Colorado and Central. The street car lost a tender. The Chevrolet was badly smashed, radiator, front wheels and front axle being put out of commission. The driver of the auto left the car in the street, saying that as the street car had done the damage, the company could look after the auto. It was later removed by an agent of the auto club. LATE TAXPAYERS RUSHING FILINGS

Final Date of Income Tax
Return Is Set for 15th
Of March

The final date for filing of individual income tax returns, March 15, is approaching rapidly, and the halls of the Federal building are crowded with taxpayers who are receiving assistance by deputy collectors.

Approximately only 11,000 returns were filed during the week beginning February 26, and at this rate it is expected there will be a serious jam as the final filing date draws near. Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodell is urging taxpayers to file their returns at the earliest possible date, in order that the department may be able to give the best service.

To relieve the congestion at the Federal building, branch offices have been opened at the Union Bank, Two companies, Eighth and Hill streets, a Chamber of Commerce, 130 South Broadway, Los Angeles, and at Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, Holly-

Incomplete Returns

It has been necessary to turn back to the taxpayers a large number of returns which have been filed without signature, or because they have not been sworn to before a deputy collector or notary public and the questions answered at the bottom of page 2 of the return. Taxpayers are warned that returns filed with such omissions and necessitating the correction of these items may render the return incomplete and the taxpayer liable for the penalty for delinquency.

To avoid penalties, returns must be in the office of the collector not later than midnight of March 15, and it is hoped that this district will make a record in the small number of delinquent taxpayers, and will go over the top in the amount of taxes collected.

Dr. William C. Dr. Mabry is a specialist in general diagnosis and medical treatment, and while the greater part of his work is that of a consultant, he will do a certain amount of general practice for the present.

OFFICIALS WILL WATCH WAR GAME

Transport Bears Party South On Inspection Trip of Fleet Maneuvers

By KENNETH W. CLARK
For International News Service
ABOARD THE U. S. S. HENDERSON, EN ROUTE TO PANAMA, March 7.—The navy transport Henderson with the official fleet inspection party headed by Secretary of the Navy Denby aboard, has started on the first lap of the trip to Panama to witness the Atlantic-Pacific maneuvers.

Eighty-four persons are in the inspection parties, eight senators, thirty-five representatives, thirteen ranking officers of the navy, headed by Rear-Admiral R. E. Coontz, chief of operations and director of the "war games," and 29 correspondents and movie camera men.

Attend Maneuvers
The vessel will turn south into the open stretches of the Atlantic and the Panama canal, then to Balboa, arriving March 14.

From Balboa the party will be distributed among battleships, cruisers and destroyers to witness the extensive war games, and target practices, and the shelling of the radio-controlled battleship Iowa.

The combined fleet of several hundred vessels of all sizes and descriptions, augmented by seaplanes, will be divided into two groups, one defending, the other attacking. An attempt also will be made to capture the Panama canal, to test the fortifications just completed there.

Diva to Cancel Two Dates for Concerts

CHICAGO, March 7.—Mrs. Ganna Walska McCormick, it was announced here, will depart soon for the West to join her husband, Harold McCormick, millionaire, and she will not stop off in Kansas City for a concert. Nor will she sing in Rockford, Ill., where she had another contract, her spokesman refused to answer questions as to whether or not she contemplated abandoning her proposed American tour.

STILL REJOICING

H. W. Still of 1800 South San Fernando road is rejoicing over the recovery of his Ford sedan, which was stolen Saturday night and recovered Monday in Hollywood.

"Racing Hearts," the Paramount feature now showing at the T. D. & L. Theatre, is an automobile story written by Byron Morgan for Agnes Ayers and directed by Paul Powell.

Miss Ayers, in the role of an ultra-modern girl, utilizes a number of clever publicity stunts to save her daddy's automobile factory from going broke, and at the same time wins the love of the son of one of her father's chief competitors by her exploits.

Richard Dix plays opposite Miss Ayers and Theodore Roberts takes the part of the father who makes automobiles. That cast spells a "knockout" for an auto story, as the trio are as full of high-gravity pep as a doctor'd track bus.

Rubberized paper has recently appeared in England.

"The Third Alarm" is showing for the last times today at the Glendale Theatre, and those who have not already seen this great drama of the demon "Fire" should avail themselves of the opportunity, urges Manager William Howe.

Thrills follow swiftly one upon another, as "The Third Alarm" sweeps across the screen with its symphony of emotions. And the final fire sequence is beyond question one of the greatest spectacles ever filmed. The crash of the great safe down through the successive floors of the blazing apartment house, and the collapse of the walls that follows, will never be forgotten, once seen.

And don't forget that Glendale's own "fire ladies" furnish a fine atmospheric prologue that is being praised all over the city.

And the final fire sequence is beyond question one of the greatest spectacles ever filmed. The crash of the great safe down through the successive floors of the blazing apartment house, and the collapse of the walls that follows, will never be forgotten, once seen.

And don't forget that Glendale's own "fire ladies" furnish a fine atmospheric prologue that is being praised all over the city.

"The Third Alarm" is showing for the last times today at the Glendale Theatre, and those who have not already seen this great drama of the demon "Fire" should avail themselves of the opportunity, urges Manager William Howe.

TODAY—Ellis H. Martin of San Francisco contributes a column on current topics in California. The state is to be drier than ever. Jim Jeffries finds fame fleeting. Mark Twain's birthday is to be celebrated.

TOMORROW—Chicago is not so congested as might appear, writes John C. Maclellan. There are 777 miles of one-family house frontage in the Illinois metropolis.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—which the states of Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Utah, Nevada and California will join in honoring the name of the great author. A relay race commemorative of the pony express, which was the genesis of western transportation between St. Joseph, Mo., and San Francisco.

"Day by day in every way California is becoming drier and drier."

He backs his formula up with figures and declares that with the assistance of the new state enforcement law California, a supposedly "wet" stronghold, will be come perfectly arid shortly.

In 1922, according to figures Rutter has compiled, 5,639 arrests were made in California for Volstead law violations, 120,962 gallons of distilled spirits seized, 222,152 gallons of wine confiscated, 315,152 gallons of mash destroyed, $390,000 in booze fines collected and $332,909 assessed in taxes on illicit liquor. A total of 237 "padlock" or abatement proceedings were filed. In addition, 33 automobiles valued roughly at $50,000 were confiscated and 52 stills destroyed. Rutter's enforcement force consists of 51 field agents and 31 clerks.

"I am positive Volstead violations are on the decrease," he said. "Fifty per cent of the blind pigs have been driven out of business. Now we are combating the club system. It will be less troublesome to break up than the blind pigs."

Fame is fleeting.
Only a few years ago the name of James J. Jeffries was on every sport page and on the lips of all who ever read or heard of prize fighting. Jim Jeffries, heavyweight champion, fifteen years ago was acclaimed. Then came defeat at the black hands of Jack Johnson. Even in defeat Jeffries was a figure. But time is inexorable. Jeffries became a farmer. Down at Burbank, near Los Angeles, he bought a ranch. There he raises fine fruits and blooded cattle. Recently Jeffries was wanted as a witness in some litigation involving peach peeling, in which Jim is now more interested than knuckle shredding, his old vocation.

Attorney Kemper Campbell sent a telegraphic summons to the former champion.

"Hon. James J. Jeffries, Burbank, California," was the way the telegram was addressed. Campbell remembered Jeffries as a great man. Down Burbank way he is just one of many hundred prosperous ranchers.

In due time the telegram came back. It was indorse:

"Party unknown."

"I'll be dinged!" said Attorney

Campbell, and dug up "Jim's" R.

Ford Cars Fitted With Glendale Name Plates

Following out the plan adopted at a recent conference of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce publicity committee, Jesse E. Smith, the local Ford dealer, has secured over 1,000 Glendale name plates to be affixed to automobile bodies and is furnishing these plates with all the cars that pass through his agency.

The effect will be to make Glendale the best advertised, as well as the fastest growing city in America, and already many Ford buyers have displayed the Glendale name plates on their cars.

found set after the accident. The other party contends that the car would certainly have stopped more quickly if both brakes had been set, but I claim that this is not necessarily true. How about this?

Answer: You are right in claiming that the stop would not necessarily have been prompter. With both sets of brakes in perfect condition, either one of them would be capable of locking the wheels and with the wheels at the point of sliding the maximum attainable braking effect would be secured. Under such conditions, with the foot brakes fully applied no advantage would have been gained by setting the emergency. On the other hand, if the foot brakes were out of order and not capable of locking the wheels, and the emergency brake was in order, the car would have stopped quicker if it had been set.

Questions of general interest to the motorist will be answered by Mr. Clough in this column, space permitting. If an immediate answer is desired, enclose self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Praises be, there are plenty of people in the world who like dogs as well as I do!

How do I know?

Because of the flock of letters that came to tell me so, in answer to my little talk on dogs.

One Letter Friend, though he seconds my words of praise of the species, reproves me for saying MY dog was the sweetest, wisest and handsomest dog that ever lived. Guess he doesn't know human nature so well as he might or he would know that there never was a dog owner who wasn't perfectly sure of that. He says the little boy next door said (Yes, I do have some little boy readers, and I'm terribly proud of the facts) "Gee, she never saw MY dog or she couldn't have said that." Yes I could, but I should have expected to hear him say the same, and should have applauded him. I wouldn't give much for a dog owner who didn't think that.

This Fireside Companion

This same Letter Friend wants me to say something about the domestic complement of the dog—his fireside companion and bitter enemy—the cat.

I like dogs and I like cats. But so's as with difference. You may like some one whom you know does not like you, but it won't be the same kind of liking you feel toward some one of whose affection you are assured. I know my dog loves me. I know my cat does not. True, she likes to sit in my lap—that is, when it is she and not I who proposes it. True, she accepts food from my hands with a condescending graciousness. True, she purrs when I stroke her. But that is because she likes the feeling of being stroked. She would be just as much pleased if a stranger rubbed her for the right way.

Cats Only Acquaintances

The dog is a friend. The cat is an acquaintance. An interesting, beautiful, amusing animal,

THE THYROID GLAND

You are hearing a great deal recently about the endocrine or ductless glands and their internal secretions. Berman, in his book, The Glands Regulating Personality, speaks of the "body-mind" as a perfect corporation—that is, perfectly aside from the little emergencies, inadequacies and frictions which arise.

"Of this corporation the glands of internal secretions are the directors . . . The disturbances of one of them means the disturbances of them all . . . Behind the body and behind the mind is this board of governors."

Today I am going to tell you a little about the thyroid, one of the most important members of the board of directors in the house of glands. The thyroid gland is situated in the neck. Its two masses, connected by a narrow bridge, sit astride the wind pipe. It is especially well supplied with blood vessels. Unless it is enlarged it is not noticeable. When it enlarges we call it a goiter (from guttur, throat).

The internal secretion which is given off from the thyroid and taken up by its numerous blood vessels, has a great deal to do with the proper functioning of the body. It influences the other endocrine glands, it influences the reproductive and digestive functions, and it exerts some control over the functions of other organs as well. It also has something to do with the destruction of poisons in the system.

One of the chief functions of this gland is to regulate the energy utilization of the body. In other words, it regulates the metabolism. (By metabolism is meant the complicated process of building up and breaking down the body tissues). When there is an over-supply—hyper-secretion—this building up and breaking down goes on at a more rapid rate. When there is an under-secretion—hypo-secretion—the body metabolism goes on at a much slower rate.

There is often an increase in the size of the thyroid at puberty, during menstruation, pregnancy and lactation. This shows that the thyroid and the reproductive system have some relationship. There are three classes of disease which arise when the thyroid is disordered:

First—Hypo-thyroidism. This is associated with shrinking of the gland and diminished functional activity.

Second—Hyper-thyroidism. Associated with enlargement of the gland and increased functional activity.

Third—Simple goiter. This is associated with enlargement of the gland with apparently little or no constitutional effects.

Hypo-thyroidism is sometimes called cretinism when it develops in babyhood and childhood, and myxedema when it develops in adults. Cretinism is usually congenital, or develops in early years of childhood. It is characterized by imperfect development of the body.

AN ATTRACTIVE PROFILE

Do your features really please you? You may think that's a useless question because if they don't there is so little you can really do about it. And yet, as I have said before, that little is most important.

The most important thing you can do is to stop worrying about them. I should put that differently. First, do the little you can to improve your features, then stop worrying about them. It may be good philosophy to accept things as they are, but I always have a restless desire to improve where improvement is possible.

You can make your complexion perfect, because a perfect skin enormously improves the profile. You can make your health better, and by sleeping the proper number of hours in a well ventilated room, and by exercising outdoors in the wind and sun you can give your cheeks a naturally fresh and rosy glow. Proper color in the cheeks does much to improve the profile.

You can improve your eyebrows, pulling out the coarse hairs at the end or below the line of the arch, or strengthening them with tonics if they are pale and unnoticeable. You can make the lashes longer and thicker and even darker by the faithful use of proper tonics.

You can dress your hair becomingly at the sides. Many women do not think of this, so that, though they look pretty from the front, from the side they are most unattractive. Hair should be dressed low on a high forehead and fairly high on one that is too

SPORTS CHATTER By BILL UNMACK PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The tenth annual trapshooting championships of California and Nevada, combined as usual, will be held at the Lakeside Country club traps of the Olympic club at San Francisco March 8 to 11 inclusive.

The shoot is one of the four great trap events on the Pacific coast and is always participated in by the best shots of every state west of Colorado and at times eastern shooters who may be visiting California at the time of the shoot have also participated. Four definite championships will be decided at the shoot, they being the amateur singles and doubles, women's singles and the men's professional singles.

The championship has been contested on an organized basis since 1914 when M. T. Leffler won the contest with 96 targets in the singles out of one hundred. The singles event is naturally the feature shoot of the program each year. The winners of the singles title following Leffler's initial victory are as follows: 1915, J. F. Couts, Jr., 96; 1916, H. Pfirman, Jr., Los Angeles, 100; 1917, F. H. Melius, Los Angeles, 99; 1918, F. Bair, Eureka, 100; 1919, J. F. Dadds, Los Angeles, 91; 1920, W. G. Warren, Yerrelling, Nev., 29; 1921, W. G. Warren, Yerrelling, Nev., 197, and 1922, H. Pfirman, Los Angeles.

Conditions of the shoot have differed during different years of the event. For example, from 1914 to 1918 inclusive, the shooters shot at only 100 targets from the 16-yard line. In 1919 and 1920 the targets were increased to 300, while since 1921 the conditions have been to shoot at 200 targets.

In 1916 and 1918, Pfirman of Los Angeles and Bair of Eureka won the title with an unbroken string of one hundred broken targets, they being the only men since the inception of the event who have won with a clean break list of all targets. Incidentally, W. G. Warren of Yerrelling, Nev., with two successive victories in 1920 and 1921, and H. Pfirman of Los Angeles in 1916 and again last year, are the only men who have won the title twice.

The coming shoot will be contested in by the best shots in the west, including Frank Troch of Vancouver, Wash. Troch is unquestionably the greatest trapshot in the world. He has been shooting for years and has won innumerable international, national, and other titles, including the titles of more than half of the states of this country. Last week at Los Angeles he won the southern club shoot with a remarkable score of 891 broken targets out of a possible 900, or, in other words, he missed nine targets in the entire four-day shoot.

Many other noted trap shots will compete in the tourney for the title of California-Nevada champion. They will include H.

Pfirman of Los Angeles, the present champion; Bob Bungay, also of Los Angeles; Charlie Nash of San Francisco, Frank Newbert of Sacramento, George Anderson of San Jose, Dr. J. B. Falk of Modesto, Charlie Lindeman of San Francisco, and others.

The World Over By FRANKLIN B. MORSE PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Dissatisfaction is brewing in the members of the Olympic club of San Francisco, one of the richest athletic organizations of the United States. For nearly two decades now the same set of officers and directors have been in power, and the charge openly has been made that instead of giving all branches of athletics a fair and equal show, the directorate has grown old and consequently lost touch of the faster competitive games and has devoted too much time and money to the fostering of golf.

The rebel element point to the fact that while tens of thousands of dollars have been expended for the acquisition, remodeling and maintenance of the club's golf annex at Lakeside, only sporadically have athletic teams been sent to the various national championship meets in various sports that are held throughout the country.

Every credit is given the officials in power for its business acumen in placing the club financially where it is, the richest, probably, of like organizations in the country, but the charge also is made that with the exception of golf, which is getting a lot of financial support, penuriousness has been the policy as far as other activities are concerned. It is claimed that such a club as the Olympic club should be able to have its teams represented in practically every championship of importance, no matter where it is held, but that the officials are so interested in golf themselves, they have lost sight of the main issue.

Just what the outcome will be, it is too early to predict, but if past history is repeated it may be that, instead of the usual one ticket unopposed presented at each election, as has been the case for nearly two decades, an insurgent ticket comprising some of the younger men in the organization may be presented. The present officers and directors took hold at the time of the San Francisco fire, when the club lost everything, and it is because of the financial position in which they have placed the club in the last twenty years that the membership has been grateful to them. Now, however, with what they call an athletic decadence setting in, the rebels believe the interests of the club are paramount to those of the men who have so long steeled it to its present enviable financial position. Their work is done, it is claimed, and younger men should now go ahead with the athletic end, the purpose for which the club was organized.

No organized opposition as yet has appeared, but there is a lot of talk going on and it would not be surprising at any moment to see something definite appear on the horizon as soon as the restless members are able to marshall their forces.

HERMAN TO JOIN BOSTON RED SOX

Glendale Player Leaves to Train at Little Rock With Americans

Floyd "Lefty" Herman, Glendale star baseball player, left last night via the Santa Fe for Little Rock, Ark., where he will report to the Boston Americans for spring practice. "Lefty" has been playing professional ball for about two years, getting his start with the Edmonton club, in the Western Canadian league.

Last year, a clever scout for the Detroit Tigers spotted him, and he was promptly bought by Ty Cobb. He was then farmed out to Omaha, where he batted pretty close to the .400 mark. He was then bought by the Boston club, and this year, he will, no doubt, be a regular, probably holding down first base.

Probe Alleged Bribe To N. Y. Sport Writers

NEW YORK, March 7.—If nothing further develops within a comparatively few hours on the alleged exposure of New York sport writers, charged with accepting $3,000 "publicity" money from Harry Greb, Pittsburgh boxer, the matter will be laid before the state athletic commission for investigation. It is promised. The charge deals with the alleged passing of the sum in question from Greb to the critics, who in return for its receipt were to ballyhoo Greb in their columns toward a bout with Jack Dempsey and the big money.

"They said that last year," was only comment.

Molla was emphatic in disputing the assertion she is going back and expressed confidence in the belief she will be able to beat the best of them when back in form.

Turks Charge Grecian Notables With Treason

ATHENS, March 7.—Turks have begun to arrest Greek notables at Ismid, Anatolia, charging them with treason, according to word received by the government after the latter had won successive world's championships with the Red Sox in 1915 and 1916, but the best Jack could show in 1917 was a second-place club. He then enlisted in the navy and never came back to baseball.

Now for Chance. He had one of the smartest ball clubs in the history of the game at Chicago from 1906 to 1912. The result? Johnny Evers finished third with the Cubs in 1913 and was let out for reasons obscure. He tried again in 1921, under another regime, and this time failed significantly. Joe Tinker was a "bust" with the Reds, but contrived to win a pennant with the Chicago Feds. He was manager of the combined Chicago Feds and Cubs, after the treaty of peace was signed, and speedily disabused everyone's mind of the idea that he was able to handle men.

Take the products of the McGraw school as an example.

Roger Bresnahan flopped badly with the St. Louis Cardinals, and during subsequent years has done little with his Toledo Mudhens. Larry Doyle could not hold a managerial post, although McGraw landed him successive appointments in the International league and Southern association. Bill Dahmen failed in a brief trial at the head of the Dodgers; likewise "Moose" McCormick at Chattanooga, and Mike Donlin at Jersey City.

Charley Herzog didn't make the rifle at Cincinnati, and Matty, one of his immediate successors, lost out when he joined the army in 1918. This made room for Fay Moran, and thereafter Matty couldn't get the job back if he asked for it with a repeating shotgun.

On the other hand, George Wiltsie has done well in Buffalo, and Art Fletcher may be a riot in his first year with the Phillips, but Billy Gilbert, now in Denver, seems to have the job-losing complex, although he finished second with Waterbury in 1922.

Of the Mack school Harry Davis just about outlived his welcome in a single season at Cleveland. Danny Murphy left a trail of failures in his wake, Lave and Monte Cross attained indifferent successes with minor league clubs, Monte being eased out of Kansas City just about the time Topsy Hartzel, another of Mack's old-timers, was named captain of the team.

Few of Mack's later-day champions went in for managing, men like Collins, McInnes, Baker, Strunk, Schang and others being content, seemingly, to play ball and let the other fellows do the worrying. Jack Coombs, Chief Bender, Jack Barry and Ruth Oldring were the lone exceptions, and here again the percentage of failure was great. Coombs' missing fire with the Phillies, while Bender and Oldring handled minor league outfits of doubtful repute.

LOS ANGELES, March 7.—University of Southern California will send five athletes to Paris to compete in the world's collegiate championships in May, according to plans announced by Trojan athletes and officials.

Acceptance of the invitation to compete abroad means that the Trojan team will be unable to compete in the Drake relay carnival at Des Moines, in which it had been hoped Paddock would have an opportunity to compete against eastern athletes.

Before coming to California last July, Mr. Runde was located in Detroit, where he was engaged in the manufacture of automobile parts and accessories. Feeling the call of California, Mr. Runde came west, and a few days after his arrival in Glendale, he decided that this would be his future home and place of business.

Mr. Runde chose the Moon car, he says, because he liked its reputation, and for the fact that it is a high-priced car so far as production is concerned, but is nevertheless sold at a low price.

Personal acquaintance with the officials of the Moon factory was also an important factor in making the decision to represent the Moon, he said.

The Rundes have purchased a home in Glendale, and despite the fact that they have been here only a short time, they feel already, declared Mr. Runde, as if they were pioneers. In the advertising columns of today's news the facts concerning the formal opening of the new concern will be found.

Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Ervin are among the new arrivals in Glendale. They came here last Saturday, from El Centro, where Mr. Ervin had for a number of years conducted a successful variety store, and are now stopping with Mr. and Mrs. Garrett H. Smith of 616½ South Louise street. Mr. Ervin recently sold out his business in El Centro and is looking over Glendale as a city in which to locate permanently and establish himself in the house-furnishing business.

To make room for the new pianos the demonstration booths for Cheney phonographs and Volcalion records have now been moved to the south side of the salesroom adjoining the sheet music and Q. R. S. music roll department.

Mr. Shuck believes that the new arrangement also will be more convenient for the patrons of this store.

Glendaleans are always assured of a real treat, and one of the big events to be held during the first weeks in the new clubhouse is the artistic musical program to be given Thursday night, March 22, at 8:15 o'clock, under the auspices of the music section with Mrs. Warren Roberts, curator.

The evening will be featured by the appearance on the program of the three widely-known artists, Flora Myers Engel, dramatic and lyric soprano; Calmon Luboviski, violinist, and Brahmin Van Den Berg, pianist.

A grand piano is the gift of the music section to the club for the new clubhouse and this concert will be to raise money to apply on the piano fund.

The affair is to be in the nature of a social affair with members of the music section serving as a reception committee and ushers and entertaining with an informal social hour following the program.

GOVERNOR GUEST AT HIGHWAY MEET

Attends Nevada Conference To Urge Completion of Lincoln Route

By CIL A. COWAN

Special to The Evening News
SACRAMENTO, March 7.—California was without a governor yesterday, or rather the governor was without California. Richardson failed to notify Lieutenant Governor Young he would absent himself for the day. They are political opponents and no entente cordiale exists. Perhaps Governor Richardson feared Young would recall the budget bill in his absence if vested with authority.

SACRAMENTO, March 7.—With Governor Friend W. Richardson at Reno, Nevada yesterday attending a highway conference under the auspices of the Reno Chamber of Commerce, Lieutenant Governor C. C. Young, president of the senate acted in executive capacity yesterday.

Governor Scrugham of Nevada also attended the conference, it being the desire of road enthusiasts in the two states to complete the Lincoln highway into California. Much work already has been done by Nevada and with the paving of a stretch from Placerville to Tahoe, the worst part of the trip will be the best.

Some of the most wonderful scenery in the state lies along this route and much of the paving will be through federal forest reserves. The California highway commission already has gone on record to the effect that interstate projects will be completed, and it is assumed that the governor will give Nevada boosters assurance that something will be done.

Difficult Task
Road construction in the Sierra Nevada mountains, it is pointed out, presents one of the most expensive and difficult tasks, as detours are impossible and work can only be carried on through the federal forest reserves.

The California highway commission already has gone on record to the effect that interstate projects will be completed, and it is assumed that the governor will give Nevada boosters assurance that something will be done.

The writer traveled over this route last summer and found it difficult to negotiate, but beautiful beyond compare. A scenic highway with the utility of linking two state capitals and expediting trans-continental traffic would not be amiss as a state project.

Senator A. Burlingham Johnson of Pasadena had the fortune to get favorable consideration Monday by the senate on his county museum bill, which provides the means for counties establishing curio collections and interchanging their exhibits with other counties.

This bill looks to the needs of the Los Angeles county museum principally, although it aids in the establishing of others. The lower house now has to pass on the measure.

BANDITS NOT CAUGHT

No trace of the bandits who held up the Southern Pacific train Monday night near Doran street, has been obtained so far, according to Col. J. D. Fraser, chief of police, John H. Healy of Reno, who has a bullet wound in his leg, is reported to be better this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

"The issue arose over the many private military academies in Southern California," according to the assemblyman, "but I later saw where it might be construed to injure the religious schools and therefore provided the exemption. It is not my intention to further anything which savors of the Oregon school law."

Undue apprehension, it is suggested, results from the fact that Assemblyman Pomeroy is a licensed preacher in the Methodist church, although he has given up the clergy for civic work.

Budget Seems Safe

Success of the Richardson budget program seems assured for the cow county legislators report they dare not permit more revenue to be raised by an ad valorem tax and that is the only way increased appropriations can be obtained this session.

Representatives from Fresno and other places where normal school appropriations were slashed may make a fight for their sectional institutions, but they cannot expect to get a two-third majority to override the governor's vote.

The governor expressed confidence to his friends Monday in error's vote.

various conferences that everything will work out to his satisfaction. It may take several days for the budget fight to actually get under way, and even then it will be lacking much general significance.
